BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 9, 1940.

HIGH TIDE AND WIND TUESDAY VISITS MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST AND CAUSES MINOR DAMAGES TO BAY-WAVELAND

Seawall Receives Its First Test Since Built Parts Undermined by Water Seepage—Concrete Balustrades Wrecked by Floating Timbers—Water Highest Since Great Storms of 1914-15 and '19—Small Craft and Piers Wrecked—No Lives Reported Nor Injury to Persons Out on Water—City and County Employees on the Alert—Clean-up of Wreckage Started Immediately.

With storm warnings issued by the United States Weather Bureau, Bay St. Louisians prepared themselves by gathering in the number of pleasure and fishing boats, but were not expecting the stiff gale and high seas experienced on Monday and Tuesday when winds reaching a velocity of forty-five miles blew in a tide which reached storm force and continued through Monday night and up until noon of Tuesday, causing considerable damage to the seawall and beach highway at different sections from Lakeshore to its end at the head of Bookter street.

The hurricane flag was hoisted on the U. S. Weather Bureau's tower in front of St. Stanislaus College late Monday afternoon.

Mountainous and Angry Sea.

A mountainous and angry sea beat against the seawall the greater part of Monday evening and through the early hours of Tuesday up until late Tuesday afternoon, causing a rise in the tide such as has not been experienced here in twenty years. Waves between six and ten feet high beat skiffs and small boats to drift wood and carried the drift wood and debris over the seawall at a great many sections. At Bookter and S. Beach, truck loads of drift wood were removed to open traffic and also at Ballentine and S. Beach. Most of the small bath houses and wharves were blown away early on Tuesday morning, and the pier and wharf belonging to the Estate of Reginald Blaise on S. Beach at Washington street began giving away on Monday evening, with electric poles and heavy timber on the pier leaning perilously and threatening to float away at any time.

First Real Test for Seawall.

The seawall protecting the beach road along the coast line of Hancock county experienced its first real test in this week's storm and it is considered that it stood the test well as the damage to the wall and road bed is not great compared to the task it stood against one of the worst storms which the coast has experienced in twenty years. Possibly the greatest damage is that just below St. Charles street where several sections of the balustrade toppled over into the water and a sinkage of several feet occurred in the roadbed due to the heavy seepage under the wall at this point, and the road at this point was closed of traffic.

At Nicholson avenue, as at several points along the road to Lakeshore, the incessant beating of high waves against the seawall and resultant spray caused the road to be covered with several inches of water and made it advisable to suspend traffic which was diverted to the back road along the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

Many Viewed Spectacular Sight.

Throngs of natives and summer residents garbed in raincoats rode or walked along the beach at all times viewing the high tide and speculating on the question as to whether the storm had reached its peak or not, and thrilling to the unusual sight of a rough surf in this otherwise section of calm seas.

City and County employees were about marking the few danger spots and endeavoring to make traffic lanes possible, and those ever-vigilant employees of the Mississippi Power Company and Southern Bell Telephone Company experienced many a hazard in their lines of duty—that of providing service to the public at all times and in all weathers—with some crews working continuously from Monday evening through late Tuesday.

Railroads Suffer From High Water.

Highway 90 was closed to traffic because of high waters, and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad ceased train service between Bay St. Louis and New Orleans on Tuesday because of flooded roadbeds in the Chef Menteur and Rigolets Sections, and a number of passenger trains arriving here early Tuesday morning were diverted over other lanes to New Orleans.

Property damage here as best can be learned is trivial, with some minor repair to roofs and fences necessary, and limbs and foliage of trees strewn about.

OVER SIX HUNDRED WAR VETERANS ENJOY GULF COAST PICNIC

Gulf States Association, Spanish-American Vets, Gather At Naval Reserve Park Sunday and Have Big Day—Those Attending From Bay St. Louis and Vicinity.

The annual picnic of the Gulf States Association, United Spanish War Veterans, held at Naval Reserve Park, Biloxi, on Sunday, August 4, was a huge success.

There were over six hundred veterans and their families in attendance, with representatives from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, and Michigan. One couple drove from Tampa, Florida especially for the occasion.

There was a program of athletics and the W. P. A. Recreation Project of Biloxi presented a group of children in folk dances which were well received, of which Mrs. Ruth Skinner and Mrs. Lucille Bartha were in charge. Mayor Louis Braun of Biloxi welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city and Mrs. Margaret Hogan, Department Chief of Staff, welcomed them on behalf of the Auxiliaries of Mississippi.

Mrs. Hogan introduced Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ross of the Leon McCord Camp and Auxiliary of Jacksonville.

Mr. Ross presented Major E. A. Hiller, Manager of the veterans facility at Biloxi, with three hundred and five books for the library at the facility.

Mr. Phillip Rolls, Commander, welcomed the visitors also and presented Major Hiller with a bass violin for the Hill Billy Band at the facility, which later provided music for a community sing, with E. W. Hoyle, President of the Association leading.

The picnic brought together Philip Rolls, Arthur Richards, W. W. Jones, W. S. Smith and Giles Brown who served in Company D for the first time in forty-two years.

Attending the picnic from Bay St. Louis were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Traub, and grandson, Charles Traub, III, Captain J. W. Pears and daughter, Katherine, Mrs. Georgia Dunning, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Reab, Mrs. Amelia Howze, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Burgdahl, Mr. and Mrs. William Griffith, and Mr. Arthur Destor.

LOCAL KING'S DAUGHTERS HOLD MEETING AND PLAN FOR FURTHER ROOF FUND

Regular Meeting Held Monday Morning — A. & G. Theater Offers Benefit Show.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the King's Daughters Hospital, after routine matters were disposed of, a discussion on further means for securing funds with which to re-roof the hospital was held by members present.

While the hospital board is grateful to everyone for their assistance with the cake walk from which the handsome sum of $77.95 was derived, it is well known that a roof will cost more than this amount and it was decided to endeavor to have other benefits to create funds for this worthwhile cause.

Miss Geraldine Ames has most generously offered the use of the A. & G. Theater for a special matinee performance which will be given on Friday, August 16th and members of the Board are extremely grateful for this offer.

The tragic death of George J. Slade which occurred in an automobile accident on Thursday, July 25, on Highway 11, near Mosselle, Miss., is noted with deep regret by many persons in Bay St. Louis who knew him here as a student at St. Stanislaus College and a graduate of Class 1927.

ESTIMABLE BAY ST. LOUIS RESIDENT IS LAID TO REST AT N. O.

Mrs. Pauline Mary Tarut Dies After Long Illness—Was Daughter of Mrs. Buechel.

Following a long siege of illness, Mrs. Pauline Mary Tarut, beloved daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Buechel, and the late Francis Cuneo, native of New Orleans, and resident of Bay St. Louis for the past twenty-four years, passed away last Friday morning, August 2, at 7:15 o'clock, at the home of her mother on Carroll avenue, and surrounded by her loved ones.

Mrs. Tarut was the mother of Frank M. Tarut of Bogalusa, La., and Charles Henry Tarut, of New Orleans. Grandmother of Gladys M. Tarut, of New Orleans, sister of Miss Lottie Cuneo and Mr. Henry Cuneo; sister-in-law of Sister Louise Teresa, of St. Joseph, all of Bay St. Louis.

Last rites were held from Fahey Funeral Home Saturday afternoon, with religious services at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf, and interment at St. Joseph cemetery, New Orleans.

Mrs. Tarut had lived a long, useful and quiet life, devoting her time to her immediate family and loved ones and always doing for others.

She was a devout member of the Catholic faith and practiced her religion consistently in her daily life. She was ever ready to do for others, unselfish and ever willing to assist.

Some years ago her health began to gradually fail, but even then she was ever willing to contribute to the happiness and comfort of others, until she became so ill as to practically become an invalid.

In testimony of esteem numerous floral offerings literally covered the casket in addition to the additional number that accompanied the body to its resting place.

Delicate flowers, fragrant and in contrasting colors of delicate shades, exquisitely arranged, were in abundant profusion, and fittingly manifested the sympathy of the many friends who thus evidenced a contribution as a tribute of love and sympathy.

To Mrs. Buechel, the aged mother; the sons, Frank and Charles Tarut, to the sister and brother, Miss Lottie Cuneo and Mrs. Henry Cuneo and to the other members of the family The Echo extends heartfelt sympathy.

RED CROSS SEWING ROOM CALLING FOR VOLUNTEERS TO HELP

An Earnest Plea For Workers in the Sewing of Clothes For War Victims.

The Red Cross Sewing Room is badly in need of volunteers who will give whatever time they may in order that the garments cut and ready for sewing may be completed and packed for shipping in time to meet the requirements and to be shipped with the next consignment which leaves America in the first days of September.

While the garments must be made according to specifications, and while many persons do not understand that this requirement was made in order to avoid waste and errors and by experts who by experience and study have learned economic measures, which, when applied properly, are of great value, anyone knowing how to sew the simplest way is able to make any of these garments and their help will be greatly appreciated in this greatest of world causes of the time.

Leaders in government, business and charitable measures throughout the world are urging people to become conscious of the dangerous situations menacing the entire world today, and abandon the complacent attitude in the face of the great distress which is in other countries and which affects every phase of life, and in our own country, one of the greatest means of alleviation of suffering is the American Red Cross, so why not rally to the cause and make the sacrifices which every act of charity that we perform calls for.

We have experienced just within the last few days a storm which for a while caused many of us to wonder if we would not be the next to receive the succor and aid offered by Red Cross, and we hear throughout the day of the great relief which is being rendered to the stricken people in an area not seventy-five miles from us, that of Plaquemine and St. Bernard Parishes, and the entire area along the Mexican Gulf comprising the Louisiana and Texas coasts, where, while the waters were still rising and the winds still in force, food, medicine, and shelter were being dispensed by trained workers of the American Red Cross.

Bay St. Louis and Hancock county have a reputation for doing splendid charity work and it is hoped that they will not be lacking in their support of the Red Cross war relief work, and continue in their effort to have their quota of sewing, knitting and funds reach the top.

TELEPHONE WORKMAN INJURED

Plant Supt. Kirkpatrick and W. O. Wells Fall From Pole When Electric Current Appears.

An accident occurring on last Tuesday which was incident to repair of telephone lines caused by the storm was suffered by two members of the Southern Bell Telephone Company who were working on a line just before the building occurred by The Hamburger King on N. Beach at State street.

Mr. H. D. Kirkpatrick, local plant superintendent for the Telephone Company, and Mr. W. O. Wells, of Gulfport, both suffered shock and minor burns and were treated at the local King's Daughters Hospital.

Wells was injured more seriously and was kept at the hospital for medical attention, and later in the evening moved to the King's Daughters Hospital, in Gulfport, where the Bell Company is taking care of the patient.

It appears, from the best information obtainable, it was during the storm Tuesday morning the men were engaged in work restoring telephone communication which had been demoralized temporarily by the high winds. It further appeared the electric current had been off and came on unexpectedly and by the shock both men were thrown from their positions on the telephone post, opposite the exchange in The Echo building.

CAR TURNS OVER; FOUR INJURED

Party From Biloxi Taken to Bay St. Louis Hospital After Tires Blow Out On Highway 90.

On last Sunday evening at six o'clock on Highway 90 about one and one half miles from Bay St. Louis, an automobile driven by Mr. J. Hebert of Biloxi overturned causing injuries to Mr. Hebert and three other occupants of the car, Mrs. J. Hebert and daughter, Lilly, eleven, and Miss Margaret Santa Cruz, all of Biloxi.

Mr. Hebert stated the cause of the accident was the tire blowing out and causing the automobile which was making a curve at this section to overturn. The party was returning from a visit with relatives in Covington, and were taken to the King's Daughters hospital where they were treated for minor injuries, Mrs. Hebert receiving an injury to the chest, Miss Hebert suffering a sprained ankle and Miss Santa Cruz receiving bruises about the face and leg. After receiving treatment, the four persons were removed to their homes in Biloxi in an ambulance of the O'Keefe undertakers.

BENEFIT ST. CLAIRE'S CHURCH SCORES BIG ON SUNDAY NIGHT, 4.

Inclement Weather Saturday Evening Marred First Evening's Success to Some Extent.

On last Saturday and Sunday evenings, St. Claire's Church on the Waveland Beach, of which Rev. Father Costello is pastor, held its annual bazaar amidst a bright setting of prettily decorated booths and on the lawn of the church grounds over which a number of venerable oaks form a natural canopy. The illumination of the grounds was fittingly carried out in a patriotic theme of lanterns and globes in the colors of the American flag, red, white and blue.

Mrs. Edouard C. Carriere, general chairman, states that due to the threatening weather of Saturday evening, the attendance was poor, but Sunday night was a banner night with an excellent crowd and a handsome sum realized. However, as there are a number of articles left unsold, weather permitting, the bazaar will again open on Sunday evening, August 11th, when a great many attractions will still be on hand to be disposed of.

It is good news locally at least that Bro. Peter, president St. Stanislaus College, will again serve as president of St. Stanislaus College, for the coming year of 1940-41, which will be his third consecutive term since coming here from Baton Rouge two years ago.

Brother Alexis will also again serve as vice president, another happy selection and pleasing indeed to the local folks.

Bro. Anselm and Bro. Romuald as well as others well known around town have been re-appointed and will continue at the college. At the close of the annual retreat, held at St. Stanislaus college Saturday, the following appointments were named for Bay St. Louis, in addition to appointments for the entire territory covered by the Order of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart:

"TARGET SHOOTING" DANGEROUS.

WITH the people of the United States interested in matters of national defense it is inevitable that little boys will take up the matter of target practice whenever they get a chance.

This is dangerous. Nearly every day, or two, some little boy in the nation loses his life in a shooting accident. Parents of Bay St. Louis might take the hint and caution their youngsters about the use of firearms.

Adults should always remember that children do not realize the dangers of many activities. Target practice, under proper regulation, is fine but there is great danger when little boys borrow a gun somewhere and take up target practice on their own.

WHY NOT PRAISE VIRTUES?

ONE of the traits of human beings is the habit of criticizing others.

Nearly every individual can find some fault with friends and relatives. This is an art that is easy to acquire.

What most of us find difficult is the art of seeing good in others. Everybody has excellent qualities, regardless of their faults, and it might be better all around if we attempted to discover virtues rather than faults.

Human nature being what it is there is a natural tendency to overestimate our own virtues, which we know and take pride in, and to completely lose sight of similar virtues in others, of which we know not.

It is impossible, despite the magicians, to look at an individual and read his mind, much less his soul. Why take the chance?

NO WORRY ABOUT WORRY.

JAMES Truslow Adams, American historian, believes that man today worries more than his ancestors and the ancients.

He thinks that we are softer, no longer accepting suffering as the order of nature. In a recent issue of The Rotarian, he expresses the view that this is due to the non-use of nervous centers controlling physical emotions and the over-use of intellectual nerve centers.

Mr. Adams finds that people today are somewhat afraid because they are less self-reliant and blame newspapers and radios for playing up the "horror" angle.

Anyway, even according to the historian, there is no use to worry about worry, because man makes progress just the same.

IT DOESN'T AFFECT THE TRUTH.

THERE are individuals who do not like to read about the war in Europe. They do not like the idea that the United States may become involved in warfare.

Frankly, we would prefer to write about something else besides war and we do not relish the idea that this country may have to face an enemy.

The fact is, however, that whether we have war, or not, is a matter that will be decided by other nations. If they think they can take what we have, they will attack us. What we prefer is academic.

Dr. McCain, Director of the Department of Archives and History, has finished moving to his beautiful new quarters in the War Memorial Building situated on the old Capitol grounds just northeast of the Old Capitol Building. Persons visiting Jackson should not fail to make a call at this department. It is filled with things of unusual interest to all Mississippians and lovers of history everywhere. Many priceless heirlooms of days long past are stored therein. Perhaps you have an ancestor who was a Confederate soldier. You will find his record there. Every Mississippi school-boy and school-girl will find a visit to this department most interesting and helpful.

The office of the Secretary of State has just received from the printer the first consignment of the printed and bound volumes of the General Laws of Mississippi as passed by the 1940 Session of the Legislature. These will be mailed out to persons designated by law to receive a copy as rapidly as possible. As there are over 3000 volumes to be mailed various departments and officials you will readily see that it is quite a job to properly label and distribute same. However, a copy should be in the hands of each county official within a few weeks.

The fact that two of the finest libraries anywhere are located in the New Capitol building at Jackson seems to be overlooked by a great many Mississippians. There is the State Library with Mrs. Julia Starnes, Librarian, primarily created for the Supreme Court Justices, but open to the general public. It contains in addition to thousands of volumes dealing with legal matters, the daily and weekly publications of Mississippi and many of the leading daily newspapers published throughout the nation. Also, a large assortment of national magazines dealing with current history the world over. Then there is the WPA library which contains many volumes dealing with almost every subject.

The American Red Cross is undertaking a great work of mercy in assisting the stricken populations of Europe. Your contribution will help.

THIS WEEK'S DISTURBANCE AND THE SEAWALL.

NOT since 1919, slightly over twenty years ago, has this section of the Mississippi Gulf Coast experienced a storm visitation of such severity as that Monday and Tuesday of this week.

At that the disturbance was by no means as great. But high tide, wind blowing at a velocity variously estimated between forty and fifty miles prevailed. The heavy rains that usually accompany such meteorological disturbance was hardly in evidence.

It will be remembered that prior to 1919 this section of the coast was repeatedly visited by storms of such force as to jeopardize life and property and the repeated encroachment of beach and shore land continued until reaching apprehensive proportions.

Property on the beach was by no means safe and since the waters gained inroads the front beach highway, pride of the coast, and property was constantly in danger of being swept away.

These storms were of major proportions and each succeeding year seemed to demand heavier toll. Something had to be done about the situation.

It was then our far-seeing members of the various coast boards of supervisors, together with our representatives in the legislature set their heads together and finally with the result that the great seawall was built, from the Lake Shore-Waveland end at the west to the entire eastern Biloxi-Ocean Springs end.

This seawall has variously been condemned and referred to in manner that left room for doubt of the security for which it was constructed. However, this storm of Monday and Tuesday, while of not the extreme intensity, but the strongest we had had since the memorable 1919, proved a test worth while. Even though weak points were revealed, it indicated where the wall was inadequate; what were the defects and why. Thus leaving open to the mind what must be done in order to assure permanent and dependable protection.

The wall is reported to have held well in Bay St. Louis and only two small places toward the Waveland direction the structure was lacking. While the storm was not of the usual extreme intensity, it is recognized and all will agree that the major portion of south Bay St. Louis beach and Waveland highway would have been washed away—the shifting sands a prey to the constant wash of furious waters.

In summing the entire matter the conclusion is that the Bay-Waveland seawall served to material purpose. It largely paid for itself by the protection afforded in time of stress and with a few corrections in construction will serve to better purpose in future.

Hancock county was the first to build a seawall along the coast. It was the Board of Supervisors of which the lamented H. S. Weston was president that first originated the thought and instituted the building of the wall. His associates and local attorneys who engineered the proposition through the haze of legal red tape, have certainly won lasting thanks and the gratitude of a public that would have suffered immeasurably.

Let he who criticizes the seawall, and we have had many, now take a back seat or hold their peace. We are too prone to criticize at the expense of men of wisdom who are farseeing and willing to do, regardless of cost and criticism.

The man who stays away from church because he suffers from the heat may be getting in some good practice.

IS RELIEF UNNECESSARY?

MANY well-fed and comfortable Americans, proud of their patriotism and boastful of this country as the land of opportunity, decry the expenditure of public funds for relief work.

One hears the assertion, occasionally, that those on relief can secure employment if they try to get it. The inference is that the relief expenditure is unnecessary, perpetuated for political purposes and an evil use of the taxpayers' money.

We realize that it is easy to find fault with the administration of any efforts that touches millions of people and involves the expenditure of millions of dollars. Undoubtedly, mistakes have been made. Individuals have taken advantage of the Government's concern for the welfare of the unfortunate and deserving men and women have not always received the assistance that was planned for them.

These thoughts come to mind as we read of the death of a man in another state, the father of six children, a World War veteran and a widower. Only 42 years old, he was found dead and police listed his death as a suicide. They said he was unemployed and in ill-health. It is quite possible that the man about whom we write was improvident, shiftless and ignorant. He may have contributed to his own ill-health and unemployment. Apparently, he had taken care of his children up to the day when the hard struggle to live destroyed his desire for life.

Statistics show that in 1922, when we had what economists would call a "bad year," the suicide rate was the highest between 1912 and 1937. This high suicide rate occurred in the same year that the United States had the lowest death rate in thirty years. These figures, according to the well-fed, constitute a "coincidence." They will assure you that there is no relation between hard times, unemployment or lack of food, and suicide.

Even the man who loves his work is anxious to have a vacation with pay.

"The enemy," according to what we read, is taking plenty of punishment in Europe's war.

Hollywood Notes.

JACKIE COOPER, who is now 17, has promised his mother that he will not marry for eight years yet, or until he is at least 25.

Ben Hecht has done everything he possibly can to make "Before I Die" a success. He wrote the original story, he adapted it for the screen. He directed it, he is co-producer of the film and he acted in it. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Hecht's co-producer, admits that as an actor "He isn't much shakes."

In "The Wizard of Death," Boris Karloff, chief movie goblin, as "a cross between a ghoul, a zombie and a vampire," he says. He plays the part of a doctor-scientist verging on insanity.

Although she retired from the screen early this year Shirley Temple will be one of the leading 1940 film-star earners, because of the payment of $300,000 by Fox for releasing them from her contract.

By the way, Shirley is being sought for the lead in "Babylon Revisited" and will have Melvyn Douglas as her leading man, if Mother Temple signs for the picture.

Offered menthol to bring the tears in a crying during the filming of "Strike Up the Band," Mickey Rooney refused, declaring, "I can do it without." And he did.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will portray O. Henry and Walter Brennan has been borrowed from MGM to play the role of O. Henry's pal, Al Jennings, in the Boris Morris-Robert Stillman production, "The American Vagabond," a screen biography of the life of O. Henry.

Because Irene Dunne, who was wanted for the leading role, is unavailable at this time, "Jane Adams and Hull House," a Charles Rogers production, has been postponed indefinitely.

"The Rafter's Ring," an unpublished novel by Robert Stevenson will be filmed at the RKO studio and distributed by this company for the benefit of British war relief. Actors, writers and directors of the British colony in Hollywood will collaborate and 75 per cent of the profits will go to British war charities, while 25 per cent will be allocated to American community chests.

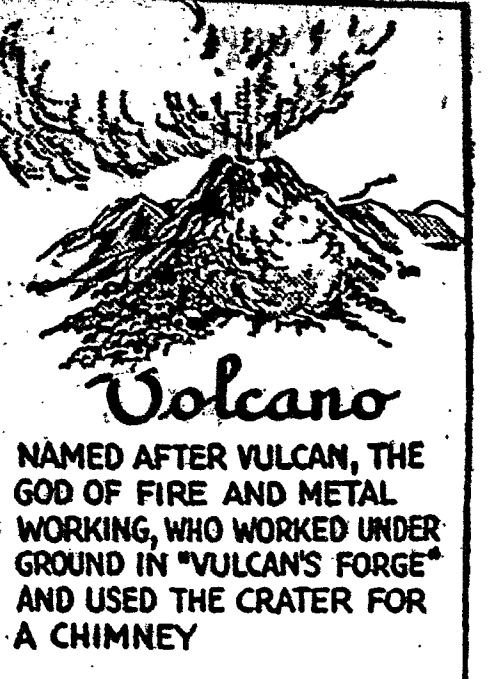

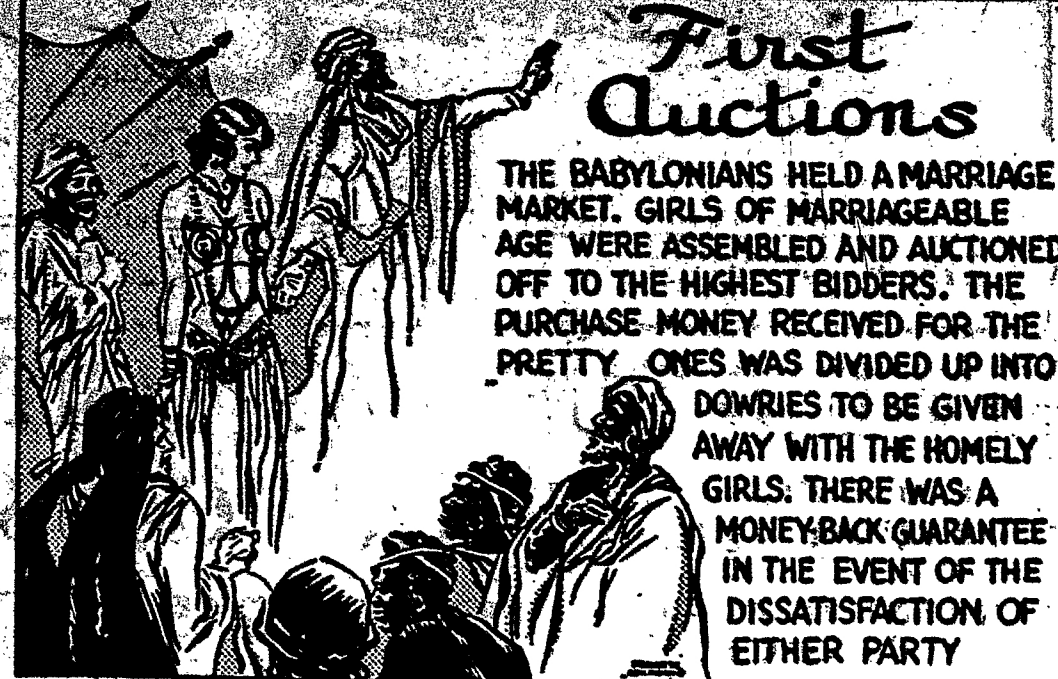

Acquiescing to the demand of movie fans, Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire are to be teamed again, the first picture to be made during 1941. Before this picture can be filmed, however, Miss Rogers has three already on her schedule, including "Kitty Foyle," "Two On An Island," and "Tom, Dick and Harry."

Betty Grable has been assigned to one of the leading roles in "Tin Pan Alley," in which Alice Faye and John Payne will be starred.

Carole Lombard is wanted for the title role in "The Lady From Cheyenne," which deals with woman suffrage in Wyoming, and is to be produced for Universal by Frank Lloyd in the fall.

"Botany Bay," an unpublished novel by James Norman Hall, dealing with the career of a transported British convict in the late eighteenth century, has been bought by Paramount as a vehicle for Joel McCrea at a reported price of $50,000.

BAY SAINT LOUIS, MISS.
The Bank at the R. R. Crossing

Dots and Dashes From The Pacific Coast.

ARRIVED Balboa, June 31st. Saturday, July 13th. Foggy each morning. A man caught a 9-lb. halibut. A deep blue sky, over a darker blue sea. I saw a sailboat with a blue ribbon, had evidently been in a race off Snow Birds, near Balboa Pier. I was sitting in the pavilion. Bathing seems good at Balboa Bay; they have a large diving float. All the boats have floating docks.

There were no fireworks on the Fourth of July. The weather was too foggy. But the flags were fine. Many individual fire crackers were sent off. Sitting in Balboa mostly bathers pass you by; many nice restaurants and numerous Penn Arcades. Balboa likes games of chance; dancing in a lovely building too, on Saturday nights with fine music. There are lots of boats in the Bay, fishing boats, deep sea fishing boats, sailboats, row boats, even large balloons to float on.

There is a new bus line, instead of the Pacific Electric R. R. which runs one train a day on account of its franchise. I was told. Laguna Beach also has a bus line; a blue bus, the Balboa bus is red. There is fine bowling in the upper part of the pavilion on the Bay. Several allies and seats; also game of horse racing. A dime to see them go! A small restaurant next to it. Near the pavilion a ferry crosses the Bay constantly to Balboa Island. To go to Laguna Beach, you have to cross by ferry. A bridge connects Balboa Island with the main land.

The Theme of the tournament of Lights this year will be: "Youth from The Sea." Twenty Southland cities will be represented. There will be a prize for youngsters, who will be in small boats. The parade will start from Balboa Yacht Club, pass Balboa Island on the north side also Harbor Island, pass by Lido Island, returning on the South side to starting point. It starts at 8:00 P. M. On the Lido Island bridge sea gulls are seen constantly. The reason is, a large set of fishing floats with benches, etc., has been built there. A space for parking autos, and a small cafe, also Lido Island has become a community center, so sea gulls seem to have found a home.

I heard a small boy say: "Balboa and Newport are one now." On the green boxes of potted palms along the patio of the Balboa new wharf are names of all the places in Orange County, but one is left bare for Newport-Balboa.

There is a circle for the American Flag. Then the fine cemented wharf—looking above the rail you are fascinated by the huge waves breaking on the shore. At the end is a green house, glass enclosed in front. Live bait sold in rear, and an open gallery on top.

Both piers were built by the Mojave Corporation Construction Co. The name is enclosed in an Indian Arrow Head. The Newport beach wharf is built with low stone seats for fishing. They also have regular fishermen, who bring the boats on the beach, and sell the fish. Near Newport, you find the best shells.

There are deep sea fishing boats in which they catch barracuda, yellowtail halibut and others. On the wharves they catch halibut in a net. It flops so; borbena in the high surf near the beach; also mackerel which have too many bones.

Relatives, from Oregon, of the Davies, seem to enjoy the beach and Orange County, and the fishing, although they only stayed a short time. I am sure I do. I got caught in the rain and had rheumatism and muscular pains from my bad arm. But I feel much better. It's something in the air I guess. I wonder if the Democratic convention will be influenced by the breezes from the Great Lakes close by?

Later, I heard the Democratic Convention nominated President Roosevelt and later his acceptance on the radio. I listened from 6 to 10 P. M. I was very interested indeed.

It reminded me of: "There's something about a soldier that is fine, fine, fine."

There are several good theaters here. The Ritz-Balboa; Newport-Balboa at Newport Beach and Lido on the highway. The new tax charge is 39c, and the Newport-Balboa, 28c.

On the sandy entrance of Balboa Harbor into the ocean, I saw some sand snipe. One was whistling a loud song. It may have been a sand-piper.

The annual Tournaments of Lights Parade, started at the Balboa Yacht Club; it went west passed Lido Island, turned and traveled East to starting point. A six-mile route. It started at 8 p. m., ending at 10:45 p. m. The Theme was "Youth from The Sea." Attendance estimated at 110,000 to 150,000. The sweepstake trophy went to Santa Monica. A Tahitian wedding scene, all on canoes. Most beautiful float "Pearls of the Pacific" from Long Beach. Three large sea shells of flowers, opening mechanically disclosed three lovely girls, then closed. Santa Barbara had a living statue of Liberty, and an enormous Liberty Bell; it rang constantly, like a sea buoy. Anaheim had a monstrous dinosaur, with a huge ball of fire in its mouth.

The queen, Miss Barbara Marsden of Pasadena, was on the "royal" yacht seated in a silver shell, guiding "Sea Horses." She had several attendants.

Several sailboats, with their sails outlined in colored lights; three being joined, each having different colors. The prettiest sail in different colored lights; every detail was perfect. "White lights" were numerous. One float was a "White Mission" under many palms. A boy on a swimming board had a large goose on the end, with an electric light on its head, it appeared to enjoy it all. A fine display of fireworks was an added attraction.

CLOSE UP

BREWERS and MISSISSIPPI BEER DISTRIBUTORS COMMITTEE

W. W. PIERCE, STATE DIRECTOR
605 MILLARD BUILDING
JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

TWELVE MONTHS AGO the Brewers and Mississippi Beer Distributors Committee announced, for the first time, its self-regulatory Clean-up or Close-up program. It also selected William W. Pierce as State Director and set as its objective the elimination of undesirable and indefensible practices which in a few instances had been permitted to surround the sale of beer. The committee pledged itself that "LAW BREAKING—wherever it surrounds the sale and consumption of beer in Mississippi—must cease!"

WE PROMISED ACTION and we got it, thanks to the cooperation of law enforcement officials, the press and the public. During the past year the following clean-up or close-up record was established:

- 15 Beer Permits Revoked
- 23 Establishments' Beer Supply Shut Off
- 270 Warnings Issued
- 62 Outlets Corrected Objectionable conditions

THIS IS PROOF of Mississippi's beer industry's stand on the side of law, order and respectability. And, as we reach our first birthday we renew our pledge made to the people of Mississippi.

OUR SECOND YEAR begins with this rededication of our efforts to an aggressive continuation of our Clean-up or Close-up program that the 11,000 Mississippians, who enjoy honest jobs in a reputable, valuable industry which provides the state and its subdivisions with more than $1,000,000 annually in tax revenue, may always feel proud of the footprints their industry leaves in the sand of time.

YOU CAN CONTINUE your support and cooperation, so splendidly given this program during the past year, by patronizing only retail outlets which are conducted in accord with the law and public sentiment in your community.

PRESTON & LAMOUR TEAMED IN TECHNICAL COLOR "TYPHOON"

Teamed for the first time in films, lovely Dorothy Lamour and Robert Preston supply the romance in Paramount's Technicolor South Seas adventure film, "Typhoon," which starts next Sunday at the A. & G.
Theater. Lynne Overman and J.
Carroll Nash, will be teamed with them in supporting roles.

Main setting for the colorful story of "Typhoon" is a small island in the Dutch East Indies peering grounds.
The picture, of course, takes its title from the seasonal storms that lash these waters, one of which forms the climax.

Dorothy Lamour sang of sarongs girl, this time wears a "lava lava," which, reports say, is a Polynesian wrap even briefer than the sarong.
Robert Preston literally follows suit;
he wears a "pareu" which the masculine equivalent to Dotty's bright bikini.

The story storms in as a sailing ship founders, and as Dorothy, as a ten-year-old girl and the sole survivor, is cast on a lonely shore.
Years elapse, and the scene shifts to a nearby island, where Robert Preston, discharged from the Navy, is a derelict befriended only by his pal, Lynne Overman.

Lynne has a submarine, with which he hunts pearls. When he and Bob brawl with a powerful native chief, they must flee on the submarine to save their lives. Lack of oil forces them to abandon ship on a strange isle—which proves to be Dorothy's. Now she has grown to alluring womanhood, lives in a sort of jungle penthouse with a female chimpanzee as her only companion.

Important for Women

A weak, run-down condition often gives a foothold to functional dysmenorrhea, causing much physical distress from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain for women. CARDUI often helps in such cases, for it sharpens appetite, boosts flow of gastric juices;
so improves digestion, helps build physical resistance. CARDUI, taken a few days before and during "the time," is another way to help periodic distress. Used 50 years.

THERE was a feeling of loneliness
through both the Old and New Capitol buildings on Thursday, August 1st. Most of the heads of departments were attending the big celebration at Sardis where the mighty dam across the Tallahatchie river was dedicated. It has been a long time since so many of the heads of State departments were absent from their offices on the same day.

A sub-committee of the State Democratic Executive Committee met in the New Capitol on Tuesday, July 30th to arrange for holding the primary election on August 27th and to declare those candidates nominated who are running without opposition.
Congressman Ford of the Fourth Congressional District is the only one of the congressmen from Mississippi with opposition. Four members of the Supreme Court are up for election
this year. They are Justices Smith and Ehrig of the middle district, McGowan of the northern district and Griffith of the southern district. They have one opponent each. Strong resolutions were passed by this Committee condemning democrats who are threatening to bolt the party and support the Republican nominee. They were warned that if they voted the Republican ticket this year they would forfeit their right to vote in a democratic primary for two years.

Contracts for safety rails to be

The celebrated Neshoba County Fair held sway during the week beginning July 29th over at the historic fairgrounds near Philadelphia. While the crowds were not as large as they have been during political years, yet a good attendance was reported. The folks over in that section of Mississippi love their politics, and really turn out in numbers when there is a hot political day in progress. Wednesday was the big day this year when quite a delegation of business and professional men and women from the Capital City attended.

Wife—I dreamed last night that you were the most generous man in the world and had given me a $100 bill to buy some new dresses. Surely you wouldn't do anything to alter that opinion?
Husband—Certainly not. Just to show you, I'm as generous as you dreamed I am you can keep that hundred.

2,185,212 POPULATION GIVEN MISSISSIPPI INCREASE OVER 175,000

A preliminary census figure released here today showed that Mississippi's population increased during the past 10 years by 175,391 persons.

The preliminary figures, announced Eugene Lacey, area supervisor for the 41 counties in the Northern District, gave the state's total population at 2,185,212. The number compares with 2,009,821 for 1930.

The southern 41 counties, under the census supervision of Pat Riley of Jackson, showed a population of 1,051,137, while the northern 41 counties showed 1,134,075.

THE SEAWALL.

Oh, little seawall, let me say
You sure did your duty while the storm raved today!

Hush, Little Seawall, don't you cry,
For the Government will stand now,
by your side.
If it hadn't been for you, it sure is a cinch

There'd been more damage than most folks think.
The trees and the bushes were flying around While the wind, it was making a terrible sound,
So don't you worry, you sure stuck tight.

And, believe me, Mister, put up a brave fight—
We sure do thank you, little Seawall, Or we might have been sitting in the middle of the hall.

It took all the keys and the ice pick,
too,
To keep that wind from blowing through.

Taking everything it really didn't need,
It was the maddenest storm I ever did see!

It had no feelings for man or child
It wasn't even gentle, no not even mild.
So once again, I thank you, just a heap,
Or I might have been swimming,
plumb out in the deep!

George R. Rea Taken Ill While Attending Convention in Chicago.

Intelligence last week-end brought the information that Mr. George R. Rea, while attending a convention of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, of which he is national treasurer, was taken suddenly ill with high fever and had to be transferred from the Edgewater Beach Hotel, where he and Mrs. Rea were registered, to a Chicago hospital. His ailment was undetermined at this writing, but it is reported his condition is satisfactory and it seems but a matter of a short time before he will be able to be removed home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rea had left some weeks ago on a tour of several weeks, including a stay at French Lick Springs, Ind., from which point they journeyed to Chicago, where the deliberations of the convention were to be at end. His illness was sudden and while there was no immediate apprehension as to his condition, the inconvenience of taking sick on such an extensive trip was to say the least, inconvenient. The Echo is glad to learn his condition is improving.

BISHOP JONES BACK TO GULFSIDE AFTER YEARS OF ABSENCE

Resigns High Church Office At Columbus, Ohio, To Return to the Work He Instituted.

Bishop Robert E. Jones, Methodist Episcopal Church, with former headquarters at New Orleans, and the originator and successful spirit and guiding hand of Gulfside, Waveland, Miss., has returned South after an absence of several years.

He has resigned his high post at Columbus, Ohio, and is again in active charge of the educational and recreational project for colored people known as Gulfside. Like the true disciple, he has given up the glory of high position and returned to duties of exacting demands and responsibility and will again direct the destinies of Gulfside, the project that has received the approval of the highest white church and school authorities, thus being able to render a greater and wider service to the Negro seeking to become a better and more useful citizen.

The annual song fest is announced this year for Sunday, August 25, and it is proposed, according to Bishop Jones, to have the presentation on a wider scale, interesting people from over a wide territory, both white and colored.

Bishop Jones' work at Gulfside has been endorsed from all sections and by educators and builders of useful men and women. It is interesting to note he has returned and that he will devote his personal energies to Gulfside.

Unnecessary Delay Of County Dredge Work Came Near Costly.

Board of Supervisors of Hancock county have opened bids for the purchase of a dredge that will build a bathing beach and a long and slanting beach as well, along the entire Bay-Waveland section, that it is proposed to protect the seawall from high water and storm forces.

Had this project, as proposed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, not been opposed by certain factions some year or two ago, the project which finally passed legislative action, would have long been completed. Our visitors would have been enjoying a wonderful bathing beach and our two million-dollar seawall protected against encroachment from the rising and stormy waters.

It is expected the matter will be settled by the Board within the next few days and the beach finally built.

ANOTHER GOOD WORD FOR OUR HOSPITAL.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 2, 1940.

Mrs. A. F. Fournier, King's Daughters & Sons Hospital, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Mrs. Fournier:—I wish to express my appreciation for the excellent service that Louis received in the hospital after having cut his foot. I can assure you that the service we received was second to none and, I believe, far better than we would have received in New Orleans.

If there is anything that I can do to help the hospital, please do not hesitate to call on me or my wife.

With kindest regards, I am

Yours very truly,

CLAIBORNE PERRILLIAT.

LIBRARY NOTES.

A patron of the Library recently laid a book of ours down in one of the stores and as yet has not yet found it. YESTERDAY'S ERRORS.

No so long ago these men said these things:

Ex-Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, April 6, 1936: "My armies are prepared to fight until not a single Italian aggressor is left in our territory."

Adolf Hitler, September 27, 1938: "The demand on Czechoslovakia is 'the last territorial claim I will make in Europe.'"

Prime Minister Chamberlain, September 30, 1938, after Munich: "I believe it is peace for our time."

Premier Edouard Daladier, September 30, 1938, after Munich: "You must remember that we have avoided a terrible war."

Daladier, September 21, 1939: Said France would never abandon her fight until Hitler had been crushed by a "complete victory."

Joseph Stalin, as quoted in an inscription in Moscow: "The Soviet Union does not covet a single inch of territory of other states."

Chamberlain, April 4, 1940: "One thing is certain—Hitler missed the bus."

Winston Churchill, April 11, 1940, on the war in Norway: "Hitler has made as great a strategic and political error as Napoleon when he invaded Spain."

Premier Paul Reynaud, May 28, 1940, after the collapse of Belgium: "We shall go forward to victory."

How then believe such statements as:

Many Americans, recently: "Hitler will never attempt to invade the United States."

We must profit by yesterday's errors, and prepare.

Personal and General

ON Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, the First Methodist Church on Main street was the scene of a large and beautiful wedding when Miss Mary Elba Marshall only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall of New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, and Mr. James J. Campbell, were married by the Rev. J. E. Gray of Port Gibson, Miss., a close friend of the Marshall family, when a large group of relatives and friends filled the church.

The church was beautifully decorated with clusters of white gladioli, dahlias, smilax and asparagus and spumoni fern, and tall lighted candles arranged in a graduating tier in white standards made a beautiful setting before which the bridal party assembled.

Raff's Cavatina, Liszt's Lieberstraum and Mascagni's Intermezzo from Cavalleria were played before the bridal party entered by Mrs. J. B. Goldman, organist, and Mrs. Catherine Thomas, Mrs. J. Roland Weston and Mr. Rene de Montluzin, Jr., violinists, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as a processional. "Because" was played by Mrs. Thomas as a violin solo.

Mary Elba, radiantly pretty in a summery gown of chiffon organdie trimmed in Chantilly lace and wearing a three-tiered finger tip veil held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, entered with her father and carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Attendants on the bride were Miss Betty Mayo of New York as maid of honor, and Miss Lucille Smith, Miss Alma Wirth and Miss Ernestine Moise, the latter three from New Orleans. They were pretty summery frocks of white velvet embroidery with soft green velvet sashes, and carried arm bouquets of different hues flowers. Miss Mayo carried a bouquet of tube roses.

Woodley Campbell of Montgomery, Ala., brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Charles Marshall, brother of the bride, John Vincellenti, of Montgomery, Paul Haygood of Baton Rouge and William Jackson of New Orleans.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding at the summer home of the bride's parents, on Boardman avenue for members of the bridal party, relatives and intimate friends.

Mrs. Marshall, attired in white chiffon and Mrs. Campbell, also in white, were assisted in receiving by Mesdames James A. Evans, C. C. McDonald, E. S. Drake, George R. Rea and Mrs. Carl Marshall, aunt of the bride. At the punch bowl, the Misses Alice Vivian Evans and Carolyn Marshall in pretty summery frocks, presided.

Mrs. Campbell's gifts to her attendants were pins representing small spoons in the pattern of her silver. Many handsome gifts among which were treasured family heirlooms were presented the young people.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left for an extended wedding trip after which they will be at home at 903 Jefferson avenue, Aniston, Ala. Mrs. Campbell chose as a travelling costume a two-toned ensemble of navy blue and dusty pink sheer with matching hat and accessories.

The wedding claimed great interest because of the prominence of the two families.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall and a graduate of Central High School, Newcomb College and Tulane University, and is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi honorary fraternities.

Mr. Campbell is the son of Mrs. James J. Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, and graduated from the University of Alabama. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma honorary fraternities and is a native of Montgomery, Ala. He resided in New Orleans for two years, recently receiving a promotion and assignment to territory in North Alabama.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Gray of Port Gibson, Miss.; Mrs. A. V. Bell of Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. Harry J. Upham of Panama City, Fla.; Mrs. B. D. Horton of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. C. W. Hughes of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dawson of Snowdon, Ala.; Mrs. Charles Touart and son, Charles, of Rome, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupp and daughter; Mrs. Yorke Feitel, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith, Mrs. Charles Wirth and Misses Alice and Marion Moise, all of New Orleans.

PARTIES HONORING BRIDE OF LAST SATURDAY—FRIDAY.

One of the loveliest parties given for Mary Elba Marshall and James J. Campbell, who were wed on last Saturday evening, was the buffet supper given by Mesdames James A. Evans, E. S. Drake and C. C. McDonald on last Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James A. Evans on North Beach boulevard.

The reception rooms of the Evans home were lovely with white smilax all about and the soft glow of candlelight.

In the dining room, the table was lovely with a centerpiece depicting the interior of the church with the bridal party leaving, arranged with miniature dolls dressed to resemble members of the bridal party in every detail and the pulpit, organ and choir loft all intricately designed. The bride party marched down an aisle over a green carpet, which was lighted by miniature green candles in candelabra placed at the ends of small pews. The miniature altar was banked with white flowers and fern and upon which were green and white candles.

Miss Marshall was receiving with the hostesses in a white tulle gown with bright sash. Mrs. Evans was attired in a gown of blue sheer and Mrs. Drake wore a pink sheer, and Mrs. McDonald a black organdy gown.

Besides Miss Marshall and Mr. Campbell and their attendants, Misses Betty Mayo of New York, Misses Lucille Smith, Ernestine Moise and Alma Wirth, all of New Orleans, and Messrs. Woodley Campbell, Charles Marshall, Paul Haygood, John Vincellenti and Frank Jarrett, the guest list included Mrs. J. Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala.
